

IPPC/AHTA/ISHS 2021 Joint Symposium Schedule

All Times listed are in Central Time

Thursday, October 28 Preconference Events
9:00 am – 10:00 am	International People Plant Council Business Meeting – all are invited
10:00 am – 11:30 am	International Associations Event
11:30 am – 12:30 pm	Meet the tour leaders – visit tours of programs from Hong Kong, Peru, Taiwan, the UK, and The United States. CLICK HERE to view a preview!
1:30 pm – 2:30 pm	Themed Small Group Discussions – more information soon
3:00 pm – 3:30 pm	American Horticultural Therapy Association Informational meeting – learn about AHTA and meet the new Board members
3:30 pm – 4:30 pm	American Horticultural Therapy Association Awards Ceremony
Friday, October 29
8:45 am – 9:00 am	Welcome
9:00 am – 10:00 am	IPPC/ISHS Keynote Speaker – Sin-Ae Park Theory and Constructs of Using Horticulture for Health and Well-being
10:00 am – 11:00 am	Invited Speaker – Leah Diehl Using Logic Models to Bridge the Research-Practice Gap
11:00 am – 11:20 am	Virtual Break – NETWORKING AND MEETING SPONSORS
11:20 am – 12:20 pm	Oral Session 1: Theoretical Frameworks for Research, Programming, and Design	Oral Session 2: Horticulture and the Community	Poster Session 1: Research
	Brandy-Joe Milliron: Creating a more powerful framework for healthcare promotion, research, and teaching: An Eco-biopsychosocial Model	Jeanette Koncikowski: Therapeutic gardening: a community-led, community-wide approach	Sin-Ae Park: Real foliage plants as visual stimuli to improve physiological and psychological stability in adults
	Lesley Fleming: Horticulture for Health Framework	Marthe Derkzen: Healthy urban communities: how does involvement in green citizen initiatives benefit people's health and well-being?	Sin-Ae Park: Improved cognitive ability and emotional condition measured using electroencephalography in elderly during horticultural activities
	Shih-Han Hung: Biophilic and Qi Experience in Horticultural Therapy	Pamela Bennett: The National Initiative for Consumer Horticulture and the role it plays in human well-being	Sin-Ae Park: Effectiveness of A Horticultural Therapy Program for Healthy Aging
	Virginia Burt: Healing Gardens as Transformational Spaces	Sheri Dorn: Extension Master Gardener Volunteers Contributing to Community Health and Wellbeing	Anna-Maria Palsdottir: Garden Smellscape ' exploring plant scents for human wellbeing
	YuChen Yeh: Therapeutic Landscape Design for Leisure Farms: A Framework for Evidence-Based Design Procedure	Sheri Dorn: Pivot or Paradigm Shift? COVID-19 Impact on Extension Master Gardener Training and Outreach	Anna-Maria Palsdottir: The horticultural year in a healing garden ' planning a successful horticultural therapy program that follows the seasonal changes
			Anna-Maria Palsdottir: Exploring a migrant's sense of belonging through participation in a horticultural vocational training program in Sweden
12:20 pm – 12:50 pm	Lunch break
12:50 pm – 1:50 pm	Invited Speaker – Matt Wichrowski Green Healing: Helping Others and Helping Ourselves

1:55 pm – 2:55 pm	Oral Session 3: Research and Application: Adults and Elderly	Poster Session 2: Theoretical Frameworks	Poster Session 3: Horticulture and Community
	Sayaka Mita: The effect of reproducing two-dimensional photographs of flower arrangements in three dimensions on prefrontal blood flow in elderly patients with dementia	Paula Diane Relf: Hortophilia Hypothesis	Anne Yasalonis: Reporting wellness benefits of horticulture volunteer programs
	Hiroyuki Kikukawa: Gardening programs based on METs (average and maximum values) and HR are needed for elderly people requiring support	Natalie Bumgarner: The role of public gardens in human well-being	Natalie Bumgarner: Multi-state extension publication series highlights benefits of consumer horticulture to society and provides basis for further education efforts
	Takahiro Hayashi: Appropriate horticultural therapy task setting considering patient's self-efficacy and personality: Modeling the therapist's perspective on elderly patients with dementia	Kelli Woodson: Branching Out: An Introduction to Therapeutic Horticulture in a Clinical Psychology Doctoral Program	Anais Tuepker: Digging Deeper: Experiences and Impacts on Wellbeing Among Veterans and VA Employees Engaged in a Therapeutic Horticulture Pilot Project
	Yuko Yokota: Application of horticultural therapists' expertise to lectures for dementia prevention: a case report of a dementia prevention course held by the local women's group in Japan	Sin-Ae Park: Task Analysis of Korean Horticultural therapist and Developing a Specialized Training Curriculum through the DACUM Method	Norma Helen Juarez: Therapeutic horticulture as a strategy to improve the physical and mental health of incarcerated women in western Mexico
	Katie Ryzhikov: Virtual Therapeutic Horticulture - A social wellness program for adults with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities	Timea Buru: Studies regarding the influence of therapeutic horticulture on the human nature relationship and the increase of well-being
2:55 pm – 3:25 pm	Oral Session 4: The Profession of Horticultural Therapy	Workshop 1: Horticulture and the Community Mami Miyake: How self-confidence and a sense of trust is built by the community farm activities in Japan	Oral Session 5 Research Reports: Nature and Landscapes
	Derrick Stowell: Engaging with Professionals Helps to Advance a Contemporary Horticultural Therapy Practice Model		Yu Hsin Tung: Exploring the relationship between landscape features and brain activation using vision AI
	Heather Kelejian: State and regional horticultural therapy and therapeutic horticulture networks in the North America		Chun-Yen Chang: Using functional magnetic resonance Imaging (fMRI) technology to analysis the benefit of horticultural activities
3:30 pm – 4:30 pm	Networking Discussion
Saturday, October 30
9:00 am – 10:00 am	AHTA Keynote Speaker – Anna Maria Palsdottir Horticulture Programs for Health and Well-being at the Alnarp Rehabilitation Garden
10:05 am – 11:05 am	Oral Session 6: Horticultural Therapy Education Programming around the World	Poster Session 4: Theoretical Frameworks	Oral Session 7: Research and Programming: Youth
	Bianca van der Stoel: Educational Programs in Canada in TH/HT	Sin-Ae Park: Comparison of psychophysiological responses in adults according to the levels of cognitive demand of horticultural activity	M. Elisabeth Black: Designing a program to build a Smart Aeroponic Vertical Indoor Garden (SAVInG) with students with disabilities at a special education school
	Rebecca Haller: Horticultural therapy education in the United States	Harpa Lind Kristjansdottir: The participant's experience of performing horticulture activities in vocational rehabilitation	Beela GK: Assistive garden structures to implement Horticultural therapy for children with locomotor disabilities

	Fusayo Asano: Educational Programs in Japan in Horticulture Therapy	Sung-Mi Jung: Effects of Interpersonal Caring Horticultural Activities Program on Interpersonal Caring Need, Aggression, Depression and Life Respect Consciousness in High School Students	Antoinette Hollis: The effects of horticultural therapy on at-risk youth
	Sin-Ae Park: Current Status of Qualification System and Education of Horticultural Therapy in South Korea	Sin-Ae Park: A preliminary study on physiological changes of humans during soil-mixing activity according to the presence of soil microorganism: Metabolomics approach	Beela GK: Horticultural therapy program in Kerala improves the emotional intelligence of school going children with Autism Spectrum Disorder
	Nicolson Y.F. Siu: Horticultural Therapy Professionalism and Educational Programs Development in Hong Kong and China	Kyoung-Hee Kim: Stress coping strategies and horticultural preferences of middle-aged women based on their enneagram personality types
	Damien Newman: Training and Education in the field of Horticulture as therapy in the UK and Commonwealth	Robin Eskilsson: Qualities for rest and recovery in nature-based rehabilitation at Gröna Rehab, Sweden
11:05 am – 11:25 am	Virtual Break – NETWORKING AND MEETING SPONSORS
11:30 am – 12:30 pm	Charles Lewis Awardee Lecture Angelia Sia Nature-based interventions in Singapore
12:30 pm – 1:00 pm	Lunch Break
1:00 pm – 2:30 pm	Workshop 2: Advancing the Application of Horticulture for Health and Well-being through Employment Pamela Catlin: Promoting horticultural therapy employment	Workshop 3: Horticulture and the Individual and the Community Faryn Hart: More than just a gardening program - Using horticultural therapy to promote health and connection for incarcerated individuals and those preparing to re-enter their communities
2:35 pm – 3:35 pm	Invited Speaker - Diane Relf Collaboration is the Key to Expanding Health and Life Quality through Horticulture
3:35 pm – 3:50 pm	Closing Session		